The Pabst Theater

By Dan Anderson

Originally built in 1895 to host ballets and operas, the Pabst Theater set the standard for theater design and construction. When you walk through its doors, it feels like you are being swept into a different era. The marble staircases, the intricately designed balconies, and the red velvet accents that surround you when you wander down Pabst's halls are all reminders of a time now gone. The ...

Scaffidi's Hideout

By 2 Cents

Located on the corner of Humboldt and Land, just South of the temporarily out Humboldt St Bridge (slightly inconvenient if you're coming from North Ave or Riverwest, but right down the road from Brady St.) SCAFFIDI'S HIDEOUT is a classic Milwaukee Tavern. Upon entering, you'll most likely be greeted by one of the two owners, brothers Rick or Mark. Taking a seat at the bar, you get a sens ...
